Guidelines to Making a Financial Contribution to the Parish

The parish's need for support

Parish communities rely on the commitment and support (financial and otherwise) of local people who identify as parishioners, friends or visitors.

People freely make financial contributions (one-off or periodic) to the parish for many reasons: whether as part of the parish's Planned Giving Program; or as a donation towards a special parish project or initiative; to assist the parish in meeting costs in the preparation and celebration of sacraments; or an unspecified donation to the parish.

Sometimes people ask how much a parish community charges for a Baptism, Funeral, Marriage. While there are no specified charges or fees, and no payment for services, there are certainly expenses the parish incurs to provide a range support and services to others. It is towards these that the parish gratefully welcomes and receives a contribution.

Waiving a contribution

- For pastoral reasons, a parish can waive a contribution at any time.
- If a person already contributes to the parish's Planned Giving Program, no further contribution is sought for any other service.

Making a contribution

- A number of options are provided through which contributions can be made; envelopes (cash), direct-crediting or direct-debiting (the details for which can be found at the end of this document). Receipts (on request) are provided for all contributions.
- Contributions to the parish are accounted for in the annual Parish Budget.

To whom is a contribution made?

It is the long-established practice of the Diocese of Cairns that contributions are made to the parish, not to the priest, deacon or any other parish officer; unless a specific arrangement has been negotiated to meet any out-of-pocket expenses or costs beyond the ordinary administration of the specific support or service.

What is a standard contribution?

The Edmonton Catholic Parish adopts the agreed policy of the Diocese of Cairns for what could be considered a minimum contribution in providing a specific service.

PLEASE NOTE

No two services are the same; each requires a different effort because of the circumstances, the people involved, and their needs. Therefore, please contact the Parish office to discuss the context before settling on an amount you feel able to contribute.
